School Bond Election Campaign To Be Launched Today

COMMITTEE TO PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR ELECTION

Active Campaign of Speakers and Publicity To Be Launched At Once

IMPROVEMENTS BADLY NEEDED
Additions Needed to Relieve Congestion in All Departments

An active campaign for the success of the $885,000 Special Bond election which has been called for October 6, will be officially started at a special meeting of the Temporary Citizens committee to be held tomorrow morning at 10 a. m. in the offices of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. The meeting has been called by H. A. Johnston temporary chairman of the committee according to Guy W. Wolf temporary secretary the meeting is called to formulate plans for the organization of a speakers bureau, publicity and other means which the citizens committee will use to call the attention of the voting public to the need of the bonds.

The district to be covered is a large one and the committee plans to work out a comprehensive plan to cover the entire district with information on the bonds before the time of the election.

The purpose of the bonds according to Walter T. Helms superintendent of schools is to provide funds for the construction of a new high school and the purchase of the Richmond Junior High School which is at present owned by the Elementary School District.

It is pointed out that the elementary school is badly in need of funds to correct badly overcrowded conditions in many of the elementary schools in this district. According to Helms the following improvements which are badly needed will be made in the elementary district: enlargement of the Peres, East Richmond, Mira Vista, Pullman, and El Cerrito. Construction of a new school at Kensington and Berkeley Park.

The last two sections according to Helms are growing very fast and students from these districts that have been sent to the Berkeley and Albany schools have been "ordered out" because of the crowded conditions at these schools due to their own large increase.

If the present bond issue carries a portion of the funds will be used for the construction of a new high school on Twenty-third street in the vicinity of the Rheem Avenue District now owned by the High School. According to Helms the present High School buildings are inadequate for the number of students that are attending. All of the buildings of the present high school will be used as an extension of the Junior High School which is said to be overcrowded.

Members of the High School Board of the Richmond Union High School District that have called for the bond issue are J. P. Strom, Aubrey Wilson, E. M. Downer, C. C. Olney and W. D. Mason.

Interesting Topic To Be Discussed At Men's Class

The Richmond's Bible Class which holds its meeting Sunday morning in the Richmond Theatre is planning for an interesting and instructive program for tomorrow. Dr. W. E. Cunningham local physician is to address the class on "Medicine and its Relationship to the Healing of the Body." The class meets under the supervision of its leader Mr. Aubrey Wilson every Sunday morning. Special music has been arranged for this weeks meeting.

Forest Stieger of Nineteenth street, is recovering from a recent operation for the removal of his tonsils.

Bogus Money Warning Given

A warning is being sent out by the postal authorities against counterfeit paper money now in circulation.

One of the issues is a $5 United States note, series of 1907, check letter "C" face plate 185, bearing the portrait of Jackson and signed by H. V. Speelman, registrar of the treasury, and Frank White, treasurer of the United States. The second issue is a $2 Federal Reserve note on the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago, Illinois. It bears the check letter "D" and is signed by A. W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and Frank White, treasurer of the United States. A portrait of Lincoln is etched on the note.

Both the notes are poorly counterfeited on plain paper without silk threads, according to the announcement.

SHOOTING OF BERNBERGER IS STILL MYSTERY

Working on every available clue offered police last night were unable to unravel the mysterious shooting of Paul Bernberger, foreman at the Santa Fe foundry in Richmond while he was on his way to work yesterday morning. The automobile which was used in the assault has not been identified, and very little hope is entertained that it will be found as Bernberger failed to obtain the number of the car.

According to the report to the police Bernberger was shot by an unknown man who sat in the rear of an automobile at the corner of Nevins and Second street early this morning. A shotgun was used by his assailant, the charge entering Bernberger's right foot and ankle.

He was rushed to the Emergency Hospital by the police where he was treated by Dr. U. S. Abbott. He was later removed to the Providence Hospital in Oakland.

Although A. U. Good, vice-president of the Santa Fe Foundry here stated that the company had not had any labor trouble at the plant here, Bernberger stated that he believed the shooting may have been due to labor trouble which have arisen in Oakland and San Francisco from time to time. The local plant has been operating under the American plan here for nearly a year. The plant however is connected with the Enterprise Foundry in San Francisco which has experienced some trouble in a moulder's war.

Bernberger stated that he did not know of any personal enemies that could have been responsible for the shooting.

Miraculous Escape In Auto Smash On Barrett Ave.

Miraculously escaping injury three occupants of two cars which crashed at the corner of Barrett avenue and Twenty-third street last night at 8 o'clock wondered how it all happened. A Ford sedan, driven by E. Vonzio, who resides in Grand Canyon park, was turned over on its side without injuring either the driver or Colombo Gavallo, and a Chevrolet touring car driven by Arthur Jatta of 2256 Garvin avenue, careened sideways across the intersection, stopping up against a telephone post. Neither of the cars was seriously damaged.

Neither one of the drivers could explain exactly how the two cars came together. Jatta was driving south on Twenty-third street, enroute to Oakland, while Vonzio was going east on Barrett avenue.

MISS LAMPHIER CROWNED AS MISS AMERICA

(By Universal Service.) ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 11.—Miss Pay Lamphier was crowned as Miss America at the beauty pageant here tonight. She was welcomed as the spunkiest maiden from out of the golden west.

Twice winning the honors of Miss California at Santa Cruz, she was picked this year over 57 city queens who tried for the honor. From a private secretary's chair in her home city of Alameda to the throne of the beauty queen of America has been the climb of this young woman. She is the golden haired girl. Circumstances caused her to go to work immediately after finishing high school and when Alameda held their contest for a local beauty to represent them at the State Beauty Pageant in Santa Cruz she was declared the winner.

California judges of beauty were undaunted by her failure last year and again selected her to represent this state in the pageant.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS MEET

High School principals and other prominent educators of the county gathered at Martinez yesterday afternoon at the call of County Superintendent of schools W. H. Hanlon for a discussion of the adjustment of the curriculum to meet the ability of the students.

Dr. Raymond Frandsen of the University of California addressed the gathering on "The Kind of Pupils in Our Schools and Their Failures." In his talk he called upon the educators of the county to adjust the curriculum of the schools in such a manner that the more advanced pupils would not be retarded by the slower ones. According to City-Superintendent of Schools Walter T. Helms such a plan is now in force in the Richmond schools and is working out very satisfactorily.

Plans for the coming year were also discussed at the meeting. Richmond educators who ended the meeting were: Walter T. Helms, superintendent of City Schools, B. K. Tucker, T. H. Madsen, F. O. Shallenberger and Miss N. Ashfield.

Plans for Social Night Furthered By Local Builders

It was decided to hold a meeting next Friday evening at 7 o'clock for all committees working on arrangements for the social night. Announcement was made that plans and specifications for the new Richmond Community Hotel have been placed in the exchange as an aid to contractors planning to submit bids for the work. The sub-bids for the structure will be opened in the local exchange Tuesday, September 29, one day before the opening of the general bids in Berkeley.

Commander Rodgers Gives Full Account of Flight

(By Universal Service.) By COMMANDER JOHN RODGERS, U. S. N.

HONOLULU, Sept. 11.—For the benefit of an interested public I desire to state at this time definite facts in regard to our voyage from San Francisco to Nawiliwili Bay. Any of the statements heretofore made public by the press are unauthorized by me.

The PN-9 No. 1 and the PN-9 No. 3 left San Francisco at approximately the same time on August 31. The PN-9 No. 1 was leading the PN-9 No. 3 by about 20 miles. The PN-9 No. 1 never sighted her sister ship after the departure.

The flagplane proceeded as per instructions. The wind cut from San Francisco was very light from the northwest.

The navigation was done entirely by dead reckoning, no attention being paid to radio bearings.

We flew between 200 feet and 400 feet below the clouds. All the destroyers could be easily seen from the plane and the plane was easily visible to the destroyers.

The engines worked perfectly and there was no sign of leaks or other troubles. The wind changed to the northeast as expected about 600 miles from San Francisco, but was much lighter than was hoped for.

In the morning it became evident that the gasoline supply was running short and it was doubtful if we

RODGERS AND MEN WELCOMED

(By Universal Service.) HONOLULU, Sept. 11.—Commander John Rodgers and his valet crew of four airmen, returned to Pearl Harbor tonight aboard the destroyer McDonough.

Practically the entire city went to the harbor to welcome the flyers who battled for life on the turbulent Pacific for ten days, after being forced down about 1800 miles from San Francisco when the big flag plane ran short of fuel.

Honolulu, always noted for its manner of welcoming guests to its shores, outdid itself tonight. The whole city was saturated with a carnival spirit as the destroyer came to anchor.

A cheer of welcome, hardly audible at first, swelled into a mighty roar as "Cold Nerve" John Rodgers clambered ashore.

Many women were in tears as they stood waiting for the airmen to come ashore.

Commander Rodgers was followed ashore by Lieutenant B. J. Connell, navigator; Skiles R. Pope, aviation pilot; Otis G. Stanz, radio operator; and W. M. Bowlin, mechanic.

The night's rest at Lulu on the island of Kauai where the plane was towed by the submarine R-1 apparently did the flyers world of good. All appeared to be in good condition after their experience.

The flag plane, in good condition, except for a torn wing, will probably be towed to Pearl Harbor tomorrow, it was announced here tonight.

No definite plans have been made concerning the airmen who returned here tonight. It is thought that after a good rest they will embark for the United States.

Boats from the smallest tug to the largest battleship gathered in Pearl Harbor to witness the return of the airmen. As the destroyer McDonough neared the landing place a battleship threw its searchlight glare in front of the approaching vessel.

Commander Rodgers was caught in the glare of the light as he was about to descend the gang plank. He doffed his hat to the waiting throng.

Commander McDonough was the first to greet Rodgers. A small army of camera men stood nearby. All airmen were photographed with the Hawaiian Lei flower garland around their necks.

Tule Murder Mystery May Never Be Solved

Entire lack of any clue pointing definitely to a person who might be connected with the murder of Mrs. Bessie Ferguson Loren has brought investigation into the Richmond tule swamp mystery to a practical standstill. Authorities investigating the murder admitted yesterday that the case might go down in criminal annals as one of the unsolved mysteries.

The district attorneys and sheriffs of Contra Costa and Alameda counties are still working diligently on the tangle of evidence, but since the discovery of the piece of scalp in the El Cerrito swamp over a month ago only one fact has been established—Mrs. Loren was murdered.

The finding of the body of another woman by fishermen in "Dead Man's Cove," San Mateo county Thursday morning was linked with the Loren mystery by District Attorney Earl Warren of Alameda county who declared that she met her death in a manner similar to that in which Mrs. Loren was killed.

Warren stated that if investigation established the fact that this woman was killed by Mrs. Loren's murder it would indicate that she knew of the tule swamp killing and was perhaps on the verge of confession.

SECOND TRIAL TO BE MADE LATE IN SEPT.

Flight Commander States That Another Attempt Will Be Made at Once

WILL AWAIT END OF STORMS
PB-1 Better Equipped Than Other Two Ships To Make Flight

(By Universal Service.) Undaunted by the failure of the PN-9 No. 1 and its sister ship the PN-9 No. 3, the navy is making arrangements to dispatch the huge Boeing plane PB-1 and Commander Strong out in another attempt to span the distance between San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands.

Profiting by the lessons learned from the attempted flight of the two smaller ships the navy department hopes that the larger ship will be able to make a successful flight.

This was the word of Washington, D. C. yesterday in a statement from Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur to naval flight headquarters in San Francisco.

Two weeks will elapse, before the next battle of the air is undertaken. No start will be made until September 21, according to orders. The exact date after that time is dependent upon weather conditions.

Captain Stanford E. Moses, naval flight project chief, yesterday made the recommendation to Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations and the response came two hours later after a conference between Admiral Eberle and Secretary Wilbur.

In the meantime tests will be made with the new motors recently installed in the plane, according to orders. Special attention will be paid to the endurance features of the navy's ace of airships.

In recent tests, the PB-1 has carried 1,900 gallons of gasoline 713 more than the PN-9 No. 1, carried, which it is believed by naval authorities to be sufficient to take it to Pearl Harbor.

Weather conditions, added to the fact that the guardships are out of line, were given as the reason for the delay in the flight. Equinoctial storms, now becoming prevalent in the mid-Pacific make a non-stop flight to the island an uncertainty at the present time, it was explained.

Judge Phillips To Address K. C.

Judge Dixon Phillips of Berkeley will address the meeting to be held by Berkeley Council No. 1499, Knights of Columbus, next Monday evening, September 14, in Memorial hall. Judge Phillips will speak on "Fraternism," and an interesting talk is anticipated.

The meeting will start at 8 o'clock and will be followed by a social hour and the serving of refreshments.

Sweden Will Get More U. S. Autos

UNIVERSAL SERVICE
STOCKTON, Sept. 11.—The American automobile industry will be affected by Sweden's decision to reduce the import duties on automobile parts, so as to average 12 per cent, instead of 21, as heretofore, while the rate on complete cars remains 15 per cent. One of the consequences of the old rates was that as it was cheaper to import complete cars, no American assembling plants could be operated to advantage in Sweden, this being done instead in Denmark and Belgium. Another was that the Swedish automobile industry languished, because certain parts had to be imported under the higher rate.

Under the old schedules some automobile parts were specially listed at 16 per cent, while others were classified under their principal materials which averaged 26 per cent. Now the parts specially mentioned are still taxed 16 per cent., while all the others are admitted at 10 per cent., making the average for an entire car 12 per cent.

During the past five years, the number of automobiles has increased in Sweden by 63.5 per cent., making that country more highly motorized than most of its neighbors. While in the United States there is an automobile to every six inhabitants there is one to every 95 in Sweden, 125 in Norway, 68 in Denmark, 143 in the Netherlands, 81 in Belgium, and 272 in Germany.

The majority of the Swedish cars are of American make, but now under the reduced tariff rates the country hopes that the American manufacturers will establish assembling plants within the country while some Swedish manufacturers intend to build their own.

MEMORIAL HALL BANQUET PLANS ARE COMPLETED

Finishing touches are being put on the arrangements for the banquet and entertainment to be given in Memorial hall next Saturday evening for the building committee of the new hall.

Invitations have been extended to the building committee, members of the Contra Costa county board of supervisors, Richmond city council, and other city and county officials. Plans have been made to take care of 150 persons.

The entertainment committee of the general banquet committee, composed of George Tandy, Reul Crose, and Charles Dobler, will meet on next Thursday evening to complete details on the entertainment for the evening. Slight of hand performers, musicians, talkers and singers will be on hand to keep the company in good spirits during the banquet.

The members of the building committee who will be honored are: All surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic; E. E. Grow, O. A. Fouslen, and J. J. Gilmore of the Spanish War Veterans; Fred Heeger, Edward Segar, and Ralph Wood of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; and W. A. Vickery, A. F. Browning, Larkin J. Younce of the American Legion.

new clubhouse of the Fairfield Lions club.

Wilbur Pierce, president of the Richmond Den of Lions, delivered an inspiring address during the dedication ceremonies. Local talent furnished a large portion of the musical program. Archie Winchell rendered Scotch songs, and Carl Richards and Ward McCracken entertained with a violin and piano number. The local club's quartet, consisting of H. H. Mylander, Bert Carter, Charles F. Donnelly and Dennis Shaw, favored the gathering with a number of pleasing numbers. Musical numbers were also rendered by Charles F. Donnelly and Dennis

Germany Lacked But 600 Tanks To Win, Finding

By O. D. TOLMISCH
Universal Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Six hundred tanks, or two to three additional cavalry divisions, were all the Germans lacked to turn the fortunes of war in 1918, grabs victory from defeat, and put the allies in the position in which Germany now finds herself.

This is probably the most interesting finding of the Reichstag committee, which for nearly six years has investigated the causes of the German collapse in 1918, and which has just published the results of this investigation in three fat volumes, with more to come.

Two other findings of special interest to the allies and to America in this report, which tears the veils from what went on behind the iron wall around Germany, are the following:

ONE: The German defeat was the direct result of the appointment of Marshal Foch as commander-in-Chief of the allied armies. The "natural weakness of a coalition front" caused by the independent aims of the English and the French armies—the French trying to guard Paris, the English the Channel ports—had been the main hope of the Germans for breaking through the allied wall in 1918, and to roll up the two armies separately.

TWO: When the last desperate offensive of the Germans started in the Spring of 1918, the German and the allied armies in the west were approximately equal in fighting strength. In reserves the Germans were even superior, but a large part of them was spread throughout western Russia and the German high command had scorned the aid of Austria-Hungarian troops. The balance of power was definitely and irrevocably turned in favor of the allies during the summer by the arrival of American troops and American war material. The Americans thus sealed the fate of Germany.

The principal task of the committee was to fix the responsibility for the military and political collapse. Originally, the committee work was directed against the two German war leaders, Field Marshal von Hindenburg and his chief of staff, General Ludendorff. The aim had been to put them before an extraordinary tribunal for judgment.

POLITICAL COMPROMISE
Time and the political developments in Germany quenched mere vindictiveness, but apparently it was far too early for a clear-cut and unbiased judgment for the committee itself.

The formal findings of the committee are on their face a political compromise. Formally, the committee verdict is that the numerous charges against the war leaders are "not proven." It says:

"In regard to the question of the German military collapse of 1918, no facts have been adduced which would warrant a verdict of guilty against anyone."

That is faint praise for the military idols of war-time Germany. Between the lines of the formal resolutions, there is grave criticism of the army command, and damning is the judgment which it passes on the political directors of the Empire and thereby indirectly on the Kaiser. The feeling against the war lords is set down in drastic minority resolutions, by the socialist and communist members of the committee.

The Socialists accuse Hindenburg and Ludendorff of having prevented a timely peace by holding fast to the sweeping annexation program of the German industrial king and the junkers. They accuse them of having caused the collapse by a faulty preparation of the offensive of 1918, especially by the failure to build tanks.

But the bitterest critic of the army command is Professor Hans Delbrueck, famous military historian and expert for the committee. He makes Ludendorff solely responsible for the collapse. Delbrueck charges that Ludendorff had seized all the military and political power in Germany, that he purposely misled Berlin about the military situation in order to appear to the last as the strong man and the patriot and to shift the responsibility for the inevitable peace of defeat on the government at home, and that in his actions he was guided not so much by patriotism but by unbridled ambition.

BLAME FOR THE KAISER
This standpoint was hotly combated by the other experts. They blamed the Berlin authorities, led by Chancellor von Hertling, for having completely abdicated in favor of the military leaders, and Colonel Schwertfeger, one of the experts, made the Kaiser directly responsible for this situation. The Kaiser, Schwertfeger said, had not been equal to his task and had failed to maintain the proper balance between the army and the military powers.

Plans are being developed for the dancing party to be held under the auspices of the Young Ladies Institute and Young Men's Institute in Memorial hall on Friday evening, September 25.

QUIZ ASKED BY SENATOR ON DEFENCE

By SENATOR WILLIAM H. KING of Utah.
Member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.
Written Exclusively for Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Congress should investigate not only Colonel Mitchell's charges of criminal negligence and gross incompetence against the higher-ups in the War and Navy departments, but also make a searching investigation of the whole question of national defense, with a view to reorganizing it to keep abreast of the times.

Aviation has become too important a factor in warfare to be submerged and scattered in several departments. As long as the present system of handling the aircraft continues, we can expect only bungling and inefficiency.

PUT UP TO CONGRESS.

If the War Department does not give Colonel Mitchell an opportunity to present his evidence of inefficiency against various officials in the War and Navy departments, some of whom may try him, then Congress should furnish the forum.

Colonel Mitchell has been in a position to know what is going on in the air services—the country is aroused and wants to know the truth.

I agree with Colonel Mitchell that a unified air service would go a long way toward obtaining efficiency and fixing responsibility for the air defenses. The Army and Navy department of national defense. There should be a secretary of national defense and under him, three assistant secretaries—one over the Navy, another over the Army and a third over the air services.

The secretary and his assistants would co-operate and to co-ordinate all of the activities involved in national defense. Those activities relating to aviation would be all located to the assistant secretary handling the aeronautical matters.

WOULD CUT FRICTION.

In this way the friction existing between the Army and Navy as to coast defenses and the use and control of aircraft in connection therewith would be eliminated.

Undoubtedly a unified defense system would result in a better balanced

Mexican Drivers Can Sue Victims

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE
Universal Service Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 11.—If the luckless pedestrian here happens to run afoul of a street car, or a train, or an automobile the family, if he has one will have to pay the bills, and unless the family is one of means, the victim will be compelled to throw himself on charity.

About this situation will be waged a bitter fight when Congress meets in September because President Calles and a number of Congressmen have determined to fix responsibility and make the responsible parties pay adequately. This is believed will remove a majority of the maimed beggars from the streets and promote greater caution among the drivers of vehicles.

In the case of the street railway, it was written into their charter, granted in the old days of special privilege under the dictatorship, that the company was not to be responsible for injuries either to passengers or pedestrians. One may sue the motorman, it is true, but it never has been tried, because until very recent months, he made scarcely enough to live upon, and is now poorly paid when compared with wages paid in the United States.

Drivers of automobiles have no such privileges, but for some reason they have always managed to evade a suit.

The railroads are not responsible for injuring persons on their right-of-way. So for one reason or another

STATE HISTORY DISCUSSED AT JOINT MEETING

Dwelling upon the history of the state dating back to the landing of the first Spanish explorer in 1542 and on down through the ages to the admission of the state to the Union, William J. Hayes, Oakland, yesterday addressed members of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs at a joint luncheon yesterday.

"California's future is bound up in the love of its people for their home state," Hayes declared.

Hayes said that to be a Californian, whether by birth or adoption, it is necessary to know the history of our great commonwealth. He also related the great struggle between the Northern and Southern states over the admission of California, as previously there, had been fifteen free states and fifteen slave states and it was thought that the new state would throw the balance of power in Congress one way or another.

James A. McVittie as chairman of the day had arranged a program of exceptional merit that was well received by the 200 business and professional men in attendance.

Wilbur S. Pierce, president of the Lions club, presided in the fifteen-minute period devoted to entertainment by members of the Lions club. Vocal selections by Archie Winchell, Charles F. Donnelly and the Lions quartet were features of the program. Mrs. D. J. Shaw acted as accompanist.

Talks were made throughout the meeting by C. D. Horner, acting for President Hall Sanders of the Kiwanis club, and Thomas A. Boyer. Principal B. X. Tucker presented the high school band in several selections, and the combined orchestra of three clubs also entertained with orchestral selections. The program was rounded out by a vocal solo "California" sung by Miss Marguerite Knoble.

BIG PARADE TO CLOSE JUBILEE

California's Diamond Jubilee will be closed this evening with a parade headed by members of war Veteran bodies, including delegations from the United Spanish War Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars of Richmond. Richmond veterans participating will leave Memorial hall at 6 o'clock and go in a body to San Francisco.

The course of the parade, which will start at 8 p. m., is from the Embarcadero out Market street to Fulton and the Civic Center, out Golden Gate avenue to Fillmore street north on Fillmore to Post, disbanding at Post and Steiner.

Fillmore street was included in the line of march at the last minute to permit the hosts who missed the Admission day spectacle to view the great electrical pageant.

Fillmore street, as well as Market and the Civic Center has been prepared to disgorge thousands of pounds of color fire from the tops of the buildings.

The enchanted illumination of the parade is expected to make it one of the most spectacular of the entire celebration. A mardi gras on the streets and a grand ball at the civic auditorium will close the celebration.

The program for today, the last day of California's Diamond Jubilee celebration follows:

2:00 p. m.—Tanner race track, automobile races.

2:00 p. m.—Fleishacker pool, Pacific Coast Senior Swimming championships.

2:00 p. m.—Golden Gate Park Concert, band concert.

2:30 p. m.—Union Square, band concert.

7:45 p. m.—Civic Center, fireworks.

8:00 p. m.—Market street, electrical pageant; the most spectacular parade of the Jubilee.

Russian Princess Works in London As Chambermaid

By HAYDEN TALBOT

Universal Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Sept. 11.—A Russian Princess working as a chambermaid in a Strand hotel is the latest discovery of Miss Phyllis Holman, O. B. E., a kind of fairy godmother who runs a League of Goodwill to help deserving people.

None of the twelve occupants of the twelve rooms which Princess Alla Mestchikoff sweeps and cleans and dusts every day in the Craven hotel have any idea that the maid who ministers to their needs is of blue blood. To them she is simply a maid, and to her associates in the hotel she is "Miss Baker."

Pretty, with big blue eyes and a mass of curly hair, the Princess' face reveals more than she cares to tell with her lips of what she has been through. To forget the horrors she saw in Russia has been her chief aim—although the hardships she has endured for five years in London have been bad enough.

Like many other Russians who escaped to England she brought with her a few jewels, several rings and other treasures hoping to sell them when she arrived. But, child-like—she was not twenty then—she entrusted them to the care of a man who said he had a friend in the jewelry business and could get a good price for them, and she has never seen him or her jewels since.

That happened five years ago. Many a time since she has known what it means to be penniless and homeless in London. With no aptitude for any kind of work—until the revolution she had three personal attendants to wait upon her—the Princess had to appeal more than once to a policeman to obtain a bed in a hostel for penniless people. She holds up her hands in horror when asked to describe this part of her experiences.

Once she got a job as an extra in the movies. But now she has no good clothes, and insists that she has lost her looks—although that is not true. She worked as a nursery governess for a time, but fell ill and lost her job. She has had three or four situations as a general servant, but each one has proved too hard for her to keep long.

Now, however, Miss Holman has made her special protegee, and the Princess' worst worries are at an end. Miss Holman has the assistance of several well known people in her League including Lord Bethell, Lord Marshall, Sir Ian Hamilton, Sir Percy Simmons, Lady Swinlen, Sir Treham Lever and Mrs. Hilton Phillips. With money she earns by her voice Miss Holman also maintains a hospital for ex-officers.

INQUEST IS TO CLOSE DOUBLE PINOLE TRAGEDY

The final chapter of one of the most tragic murder and suicide cases in the history of the county will be written on Wednesday evening at the coroners office in Richmond when the inquest will be held into the murder and suicide of Mrs. Charlotte Salmon and Benjamin T. Salmon of Pinole.

The two bodies were sent to Stockton this morning where they will await burial in the family plot side by side. A request that they be buried side by side was contained in a farewell note written by Salmon a short time before he took the life of his wife and then ended his own in a bedroom adjoining the Salmon home in Pinole Thursday.

The children surviving are Howard B. 20; Benjamin, 18; Donald, 12; Darrell 6; Clarence 4; Dolthe, 15, and Dace 14. Benjamin Salmon also leaves a brother George and three sisters, Mrs. Birdie Tibhart, Mrs. Nina Brandon of Stockton and Mrs. Wona Horr of Santa Rosa. The murdered wife and mother also leaves a brother, Clarence Bacon of Stockton.

E. N. Tenbrook has been succeeded as special agent of the Standard Oil sales department by J. L. Burke, formerly of Hayward. Tenbrook is now sub-station superintendent for the company in Oakland.

MILK DEALERS PLAN BOTTLE EXCHANGE HERE

Institution of a "bottle exchange" where all salvaged milk bottles of the city will be turned in and distributed to their respective owners was decided upon at the meeting of the Richmond Milk Dealers association in Pythian castle last night as the most advantageous means of conserving the bottles in this city.

It was pointed out at the meeting that every broken bottle must be replaced and each broken bottle boosts the price of milk. It is planned to impress this point upon the minds of the housewives. They will be asked to return the bottles to the creamerymen and not toss them over the back fence or into the garbage can.

Dr. Robert R. Root, city milk inspector, was present at the meeting last night. He complimented the members on the sanitary conditions of their creameries and dairies and encouraged them to keep up the good work.

The session was under the charge of S. P. Skow, president of the association.

Short Circuit Sets Automobile Ablaze

An automobile belonging to Bob Duke, local commercial aviator, burst into flames yesterday afternoon at the corner of Twenty-third street and Clinton avenue. The fire was believed to have been caused from a short circuit in the ignition. An alarm was turned into the Richmond Fire department and Engines No. 3 and 4 and Truck No. 1 were detailed to the scene. However, the blaze was out when the apparatus arrived. Duke reported that damage to the machine was negligible.

Engine No. 2 of the fire department was called out yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to extinguish a grass fire on Nevin avenue between Eighth and Ninth streets. No damage was done.

Directors and officers of the concern are J. W. Hislop, president; W. A. Hislop, first vice-president; C. E. Cummings, second vice-president; A. P. Myers, secretary; L. J. Hislop, treasurer.

CALIFORNIA ART TILE INCREASES IT'S PLANT HERE

Keeping pace with the greatly increased demand for its product, the California Art Tile Company is erecting a new $30,000 building at its plant at Twenty-seventh street and Maine avenue.

The new structure, which is expected to be completed within three months, will be used for offices, stock sheds to hold the finished product, and to enclose the new kilns and stacks recently built at a cost of $15,000.

Built of the most modern and practical fire brick, the new kilns have doubled the capacity of the plant. The new building will give the company twice the floor space it had before. The present production of 20,000 square feet of art tile every month will be increased to 40,000 square feet.

Since its organization four years ago the California Art Tile company has experienced rapid growth and expansion. The company, the only of its kind in the northern part of the state, ships its products to practically all parts of the United States and into Canada.

The product of the company withstands all weather conditions, and is used for store fronts, winemaking, bath rooms, veneer for new and old buildings and for floors. The company is a wholesale concern and has supply materials for many jobs in Richmond.

Directors and officers of the concern are J. W. Hislop, president; W. A. Hislop, first vice-president; C. E. Cummings, second vice-president; A. P. Myers, secretary; L. J. Hislop, treasurer.

RIG UP RADIO.
I determined our position to be 50 miles north of the Aristook. We rigged up a radio antenna on the plane and without any great difficulty received everything in the air.

We sailed before the wind, making 50 miles per day or 2 miles per hour, although the plane appeared to be making better speed.

We cut away the fuselage beneath the lower wings and rigged a foresail. Weather conditions were moderate although during the afternoon on the seas were high.

The plane at all times behaved very well. After the first day we felt sure that unless the weather changed for the worst we could make Oahu, or, failing that, we felt certain we could make Kauai.

WATER SUPPLY LIMITED.

Our only concern was our water supply. We knew that we could get along without food for a limited time. We depended upon a small water still for water, and with that and the water from the rains we pulled through alright.

When our supply of gasoline ran out we were compelled to use the wood on the lower edges of the wings to keep the water still going.

We were only able to make our canteen and a half of water last for seven days. The water in the radiator was undrinkable, but we managed to make the small original amount of water last seven days.

One night we were able to catch about two gallons during a rain storm. This lasted us until we were found.

We tried to rig up a radio for sending messages but were unsuccessful. But we knew what was going on all the time.

STEAMER PASSED CLOSE.

A steamer crossed our bow Thursday morning, September 3, about 5 miles ahead of us. Due to the fact that the sun was low and directly in the eyes of the observer we were not seen.

RICHMOND GRIDDERS DEFEAT TECH HIGH 6-0

LONG RUN AFTER BLOCKING PASS SPELLS VICTORY

Rowdy Dyer Makes Only Score
Of Game With Sixty-Five
Yard Run

COACH HILL SHOWS ELATION

Blue and Red Stiffens Three Times In Shadow of Own
Goal Posts

A snapped ball, an attempted pass, an interception by Rowdy Dyer with a subsequent run of 65 yards, and the annals of football history in the bay region were marked with a 6 to 0 victory for Richmond Union High and a defeat for Oakland Tech. The game was played in Oakland yesterday afternoon.

One lucky break—a low forward pass—was all needed by the navy blue and red hosts to turn almost certain defeat into triumphant victory.

The crash of the Oaklanders came late in the third quarter. Rowdy, fresh from warming the bench for half a game, went into the conflict shortly after the half mark full of pep and thirsting for blood.

With the ball on Richmond's thirty-five yard line and the lighter locals tiring from the strain of bucking heavy men, Tech made the disastrous move of attempting to pass. The spiraling pigskin was easy prey for the speedy half and with an almost clear field ahead, Rowdy tore through to the only touchdown of the day.

Only twice did Richmond get the ball near the Tech goal. Once was when the touchdown was made and once was when in a complete pass the ball was carried to Oakland's 20 yard line.

Three times did Tech threaten to score, but three times the locals stiffened when the ball was within ten yards of the goal and averted calamity.

Oakland started out at the beginning of the conflict tearing for victory. Richmond kicked off and Tech plowed its way three-quarters the length of the pasture. From that time on the game was played in Richmond territory.

Besides Dyer, Holland and Captain Milcevic proved the backbone of the Richmond eleven. Always on the lookout for breaks, always holding and bucking when danger was at hand, these three men kept up the spirits and the strength of the team until victory was accomplished.

An elated Coach Ivan Hill could have been seen after the game. Although always appearing to be confident of victory there was no doubt before the game that Hill had some very grave doubts of the ability of his men to win over a heavier and more experienced outfit.

The Richmond starting lineup was Borgstrom and Grey, ends; Diamanti and Caldwell, guards; Reimer and Hutchinson, tackles; Captain Milcevic, center; Holland and Woods, halves; Baldwin, full; and Seigel, quarter.

Bench warmers who got into the game were Snyder at end; Cook at guard; Dalton and Dixon at quarter; and Concannon at tackle.

Progress of Baptist Church Discussed By Dr. Tingley

Taking as his subject the progress of the Baptist churches in the bay region, Dr. C. T. Tingley, superintendent of missions for the San Francisco Baptist Bay Cities Union, addressed members of the Gideon club at their weekly meeting Thursday evening.

Dr. Tingley stated that while population has increased 20 percent in the last five years, the membership of the Baptist churches has increased 30 percent.

The supper was served by the ladies of the church.

Fans To Discuss Fall Basketball Season At Meet

Preliminary arrangements for the re-organizing of Richmonds basketball league will be made at a meeting of officials, managers and interested fans in the office of W. L. Seawright at Roosevelt Junior high school on Thursday evening, September 17.

With regular grid season closing on Thanksgiving the league will be ushered in immediately after that day. Promise of the greatest season in history is given by the interest being manifested two months before the season starts. Credit for the popularity of the league is given to Doc Seawright, who has fostered the league through its early stages.

E. A. Burg, last year's secretary, called the meeting for September 17. All clubs contemplating entering teams in the league will be invited to attend. The nucleus of the league will probably be formed by the Santa Fe, Standard Oil, Pullmans, Mercantile Trust company, Mechanics bank, W. S. McCracken and the La Moine Drug company.

JUNIORS MEET VALLEJO 130'S

Grid men of Roosevelt Junior high school had their last workout last night in preparation for the game with the Vallejo high 130-pound outfit at Richmond high school field at 10 o'clock this morning.

Coaches Denny Miner and Doc Seawright, after seeing their huskies in action last night, were elated over the prospects of a win over the reported powerful Vallejo eleven. The Roosevelt team opened the season with a defeat at the hands of the Richmond high 130's. However not much could be expected as the Juniors were largely a new outfit with little practice. As it was they made the Unioners exert themselves to the utmost to win by a 12 to 0 score.

Richmond Keys Play Allendale Outfit Sunday

When the Richmond Keys and the Allendale Merchants cross bats in Oakland tomorrow a hot session is expected. The Merchants welcomed the fast Firemen club early in the season by a decisive score. The Keys in turn beat the Firemen after three unsuccessful tries a little later. The Firemen had improved to a great extent in the meantime so the Keys probably played as good a game as the Merchants.

Manager Purman of the Keys announced that he will use his old standby, Slim Nemith on the mound and Don O'Loan, veteran of many conflicts, will be seen behind the board.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND LAWS INEXORABLE

The price of lead, artificially held down for a brief period while large producers stocked up on desirable ores, has again soared close to previous high levels and is now quoted at ten cents a pound, with every probability that it will go much higher.

Last year the United States produced approximately 590,000 tons of the metal, compared with 270,824 tons in 1900. In other words, production more than doubled in twenty-four years. The average price in 1900 was but 4.41 cents per pound, so that both production and price have advanced over one hundred per cent in that time.

The total production of the world in 1924 was around 1,140,000 tons, of which the United States contributed within a small fraction of one-half. World's consumption was placed at about the same figure, so that, allowing for the normal rate of increase in consumption, it is probable that in the absence of new sources of supply, which are by no means even nebulously in sight, a very acute shortage will be faced before the end of this year.

The inexorable laws of supply and demand are always working. How long can we keep production at anywhere near the level of consumption? Time alone will tell, but it is well to note that no new major sources of domestic supply have been found since the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho was discovered in the late 80's. Production from that source cannot long hold up to the high levels recently maintained and the same is true of the great fields of Missouri.

It is time the United States turned its attention to possible new potential lead resources. A little material encouragement, such as British Columbia and Australia cheerfully accord to seekers after new wealth, would be helpful.

A CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

Young Bob LaFollette, of Wisconsin, who desires to take the place in congress recently occupied by his father, who is now dead, has made his maiden speech in the campaign to fill the vacancy. He comes out in direct opposition to the Mellon plan for reducing taxation, say he desires to have the rich pay the taxable burden. This is all for politics, of course, but it is the kind of bunk that has been carrying elections in Wisconsin, and it will probably succeed in the one soon to be held to select a United States senator from the Badger state. The republican nominee, Wilcox, is a good clean man, a thorough republican, and his election would do the state great good, as Wisconsin is now suffering from taxation laws that are forcing manufacturing concerns to other states and are effective in keeping any new ones from coming in. While Michigan booms, Wisconsin shrinks. Wilcox, it is stated, is to be opposed by a republican who used to be a loyal LaFollette follower, and the fact may take as many votes from LaFollette as from Wilcox. Wisconsin will be a lame duck in the senate with young LaFollette elected and following in the footsteps of his father. Some day Wisconsin will wake up to the importance of being a part of the party that is the one of real performance, and renounce its socialists and chaps of the LaFollette stripe, who are a decided detriment to the progress of its commonwealth. It ought to be alive to this right now, but it has a sleepy lot of politicians who are of the Rip Van Winkle kind, and who permit business to be slugged by these fellows who claim to be the friends of the people, the while they are their worst enemies.

GOVERNMENT OWNS THE RADIO

The latest news from Latvia is that that newly formed government is going to enjoy a monopoly of radio equipment within its borders. Prices of apparatus and the rates for listening in to radio programs have already been fixed. A single tube set including phones will cost about $25 installed. Other sets are to be sold at proportionate prices. Individual rights to listen in run from fifty cents a month to two dollars for performances in public. Fines are also proposed for those who have not licensed receivers. Owners of sets may not rent them nor are they permitted to give out any information secured from the sending stations.

ONE THING WE DO NOT NEED

When a spokesman for the president declares that he sees no reason why a special session of congress should be held in the fall he has the agreement of just about everybody except those who have an axe or two to grind in a special session. We are all doing quite well without congress, and doubtless can continue to stagger along at the present rate until it comes time for a regular congressional session.—Springfield Union.

Slashes Add a New Touch to Some of the Little Felt Hats of the Autumn.

SLASHED felt hats, you know, are part of the program of the slashing season. All sorts and descriptions, from the slashes across the crown that most resemble the cuts in the top of a pie, made so that steam may escape from the juicy filling of berries beneath — to hit-or-miss cuttings around the edge of the brim that look as if they had been made by random strokes from the scissors.

Perhaps the revival of interest in Peter Pan has had something to do with this, for the traditional Peter Pan wears an informal little felt hat that is slashed a bit about the edges. But quite apart from the name of Peter Pan, slashed felt coverings have for some time been dear to the hearts of numerous small boys, who have beheld such ragged headgear on the heads of some admired truck driver or mechanic and have longed to wear something like it. Now the ten-cent stores sell bits of black felt all slashed through the middle and around the edge for the benefit of the little boys who

HAIRCLOTH REVIVED

THE very word "haircloth" brings to the minds of some persons a rather unpleasant picture—formal dining-rooms where rigidly correct mahogany chairs and sofas were upholstered in haircloth—black, and shiny, and slippery, and somehow very repulsive to the spirits of the one who sat thereon.

Our ideas of interior decoration have changed enormously since then and the old mahogany chair and sofa frames have for the most part been reupholstered. However, haircloth is still used by the decorators. And the quality that recommended it to the precise housewife seventy-five years ago no doubt recommends it today to the woman who has to do her own work. For haircloth sheds the dust and must be very much more hygienic than the plush and other pile materials with which so much of our furniture is covered. Moreover, if a piece of haircloth-upholstered furniture has been used for some time and one wishes to give it a thorough cleansing, it can even be wiped off with a soft cloth moistened in warm water and thoroughly wrung out. It should be moist enough only to collect the dust, not to moisten the fabric.

The new haircloth is sometimes patterned. It is not so shiny and slippery as it used to be. Moreover, it is sometimes produced in soft shades of rich brown, old gold, soft blue and green, and mellow wine color.

Haircloth patterns, of course, are of rather formal design, to be in keeping with the stiffness and primness of the fabric. But they are effective, all the more so, because of their quaintness.

German-Russian Pact Specter to British Empire

Universal Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 11.—The specter of a German-Russian military alliance is the real driving power in back of British support of the German security pact proposal now being debated between Germany and the allies.

This is revealed in a secret document addressed by the British Foreign Secretary Chamberlain March 2, 1925, to the then French Premier Herriot, and now published by the Deutscher Spiegel, a magazine of the moderate wing of the German Nationalist Party.

According to this document, which is generally accepted here as genuine, the principal aims of Great Britain in accepting the security pact idea herself and of urging it strongly upon France are:

1. To isolate Russia.
2. To prevent a Russian-German alliance, which is still in the air.
3. To tie Germany to the western feet of a West-European power bloc against the Russian bear.

'PREPARE FOR IDEA'

"Although the policy of the Soviet government, which is based on the broadest Communistic militarism, is at present directed toward the eastward Asiatic nations, and although the aggressive movement against Eastern Europe has been halted—largely because of the defeat of the Communistic idea in Germany—still there is no doubt that the defeated nations of Central Europe are psychologically prepared for the idea of a military alliance with the enormous power reservoir of Russia and that with the stabilization of the internal situation in Russia, the possibility of a military alliance between Germany and Russia grows in proportion to the restoration of a purely national Russia might and moral."

DANGER OF ALLIANCE
"The repudiation of Communism and Internationalism will come sooner and later and with it the danger of a Russian-German alliance—an alliance the danger of France appreciates just as realistically and which is to this day the dream of the German and Russian Chauvinists."

"A Germany which is united through a pact of non-aggression with other countries signing this pact can no longer be the military ally and co-operator of either the present Soviet union or of a future

Moscow Captures Bandit Who Worked American Plan

Universal Service Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW, Sept. 11.—Russia's most rakish bandit has been captured and landed in jail.

Chieftain of a gang of desperadoes Alexander Vyruboff was able to chalk up some of the wildest exploits of a lawless period to his credit before falling into the hands of the law.

One fine day Alexander walked off with $775,000 in gold from a Moscow bank. He and his comrades, patterning themselves after the latest American model in bank robbery, had a high-powered automobile waiting round the corner to whisk them away before the militia men could catch their breath.

This fine escape whetted the appetite of Alexander. Next he attacked the cashier of the Mutual Credit Society and increased his unearned increment by $14,000.

After flaunting the two bank robberies in the face of the police, Alexander was arrested while walking boldly on the main street of Kiev.

But living up to his reputation as the most difficult bandit to hold in Russia, Alexander—handcuffed and all—jumped out of the window while the train was running full speed.

He took to the forest, not rid of the handcuffs in some mysterious way and starting walking from Kiev to Bostocow, a distance of about 600 miles.

Just in the neighborhood of Moscow at the summer resort Saltkovka he was captured and brought to Moscow.

Russia. The Russian aggressiveness of our time and the future can not turn against Europe without the aid of Germany, on which it would depend.

"By this preventing the possibility of a German-Russian alliance, the cooperation of Germany would also contribute to the security of Poland. "The government of Great Britain considers these arguments so important that they appear to justify the admission of Germany to a guaranty pact under the same conditions and obligations as those of the other countries."

"The government of Great Britain are of the opinion that the participation of Germany in this pact is the best means to draw Germany into the League of Nations and to do away with many of hitherto important obstacles to this."

STRIKINGLY SMART AND SIMPLE

The sports frock of wool jersey is perennial. It gains a distinctively new note in the model to the left, however, by being developed in natural color. The skirt overlaps to the side, and the blouse is tucked at the shoulders and laced down the center-front. Two inserted pockets on the right side of the frock are within a few inches of each other above and below the belt. The third is at the upper left side of the blouse, below the tucks. If desired, corded silk may be used for the collar and cuffs. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

The fiber silks that feature such original stripes are recommended for the second model, which is straight of line with an inverted-pleat effect in front. The jabot is made of very fine handkerchief linen, with picoté edges. Plain silk faces the revers and forms the collar and cuffs. This model, in fact, may be developed in any combination of materials approved by Fashion. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards striped and 2 1/2 yard 36-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 2573. Sizes, 14 to 20 years and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 2588. Sizes, 16 to 20 years and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

PARIS DIVORCE MILL SHOWN AT CALIFORNIA

If you are curious to see how the divorce mills of Paris grind out decrees for American heiresses, you have the opportunity in Constance Talmadge's new picture, "Learning to Love," at the California theatre.

Constance, as a sub-deb just out of boarding school, thought she had learned to love. Her flashing eyes and piquant personality had wrought havoc with the hearts of her college boy admirers and she gloried in the fact that she was engaged to three of them at once.

Then, with the appearance of Antonio Moreno in the role of her guardian, she experiences a feeling she cannot diagnose. It happened to be the true brand of love which Constance had never learned.

All ends happily, of course, but not until Constance has undergone some thrilling as well as screamingly amusing episodes which bring "Learning to Love" into the forefront of her comedies.

Other features of the same program include "Soup to Nuts," a Christie comedy; "Inkwell" cartoon; International News; Larry Canelo at the organ.

DOVER PAYS TRIBUTE TO CAPT. WEBB, FIRST MAN TO SWIM CHANNEL, AT JUBILEE MEMORIAL CEREMONY

S. J. Livings, Mayor of Dover, England is shown addressing the gathering around the memorial to Capt. Matthew Webb, first man to swim across the English Channel, on the occasion of the jubilee memorial ceremony on August 25. At this time Miss Gertrude Ederle, the American swimmer, Miss Sion of France, Helmy, the Egyptian, and several other aspirants for Channel-swimming honors were making preparations for further attempts to duplicate Capt. Webb's feat.

U. S. Sale of Helium For Airships Urged

The epic of helium is yet to be written. It is a story of something emerging out of the unknown and becoming a tangible reality—and not merely a tangible reality, but something which gives substance to the dream that argosies of the air will one day be piloting their way across the continent.

Helium was discovered in the sun before it was found on the earth. For a long time it was little more than a scientific curiosity costing $1500 a cubic foot. The cost has now been brought as low as 3 1/2 cents a cubic foot.

Whether it can be advantageously put to commercial uses is the next question and the transportation department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is seeking an answer. It is a very practical question because the storage of the gas is difficult. It escapes no more rapidly from dirigibles than it does from containers. The contention is made that it might as well be used in the operation of commercial airships as kept unused at landing fields, awaiting the needs of government ships.

Congress, during the past session, enacted a law to safeguard the supply and to provide for its extraction and distribution. The next step is to determine how it can best be used. Argosies of air are not such fanciful things after all.

"Frivolous Sal" Scores Hit at Richmond Theatre

Thrills, smiles and tears, intermingled upon a background of marvelous scenic beauty, struggle for predominance in J. K. McDonald's First National picture, "Frivolous Sal," which began its first local engagement at the Richmond Theatre last night.

There is a pretty love story of a girl finding happiness with a man whose ultimate heroism boils out the memory of his yielding to temptation. There is a little boy whose heart is almost broken by the seeming indifference of his father. There is a heroic Western figure willing to sacrifice the ambitions of his own heart that the girl he loves may be happy.

There is a rough-and-tumble fight that, for stark realism, eclipses anything of the kind ever shown before on the screen. And there is a thrilling climax in which two men fight to the death in a careening ore bucket as it rolls along the cable of an aerial tram across a 400-foot gorge.

The cast is made up of players whose names alone bespeak the excellence of their performance. They are Eugene O'Brien, Mae Busch, Ben Alexander, Tom Santscho, Mitchell Lewis and Mildred Harris.

Other features on the same program include the tenth thrilling chapter of "Days of '49," featuring Neva Gerber and Edmund Cobb;

UNIVERSAL SERVICE

LONDON, Sept. 11.—For several weeks now subway travelers coming to the surface at the Dover street station have had a chance of coming face to face with a European King. He is King George II of Greece who was expelled from Athens in December, 1923, and who has since chosen to live on a very small income of his own—rather than take advantage of several opportunities to make money in what he considers is a non-regal fashion.

So, with his queen, the beautiful Queen Elizabeth, he wanders from capital to capital all the year round—always living in a quiet way. A secretary, valet and maid comprise their attendants during their present visit to London. The whole party occupies a suite of rooms in a small hotel in Dover street.

When their Majesties go on shopping expeditions they invariably walk. For years King George has made a practice of buying most of his wearing apparel in England, especially London-made boots and shoes, and the Queen shares his admiration of the shops in the West End.

But their yearly visits are more than shopping expeditions—so far as London is concerned. Both of them are deeply attached to England. As a small boy King George used to spend part of each summer at East Blatchington, near Seaford, and in her girlhood days Queen Elizabeth, who is the eldest daughter of Queen Marie of Rumania, made many visits, too. Thus they have a large circle of English friends, and every day finds them, lunching or dining out.

During Goodwood week they were the guests of Lady Muriel, Beckwith, wife of Major William Beckwith, and third daughter of the Duke of Richmond, who himself was then acting as host to King George of England.

Their Majesties have now returned again to London where they will remain until the middle of September.

NEWLY-WEDS TO MAKE HOME HERE

Mrs. Erna Angel and J. W. Burns, both of Richmond, who were married in Fresno on Saturday, September 5, are now motoring through Southern California on their honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will make their home here.

Burns is employed by the Standard Oil company, and Mrs. Burns is connected with Alberts, Inc.

Then they will start for France, and begin another eleven months of homeless wandering through Europe.
